In its May/June 2011 edition, Intellectual Asset Management (IAM) magazine has named MHKKG in its Top 10 list of firms that prepare and prosecute patents in the information technology field. IAM used a computer model that measures the strength and quality of patents with objective criteria, and scored them with what it calls an “intellectual property quotient” or “IPQ”. According to this model, MHKKG ranked ninth nationally among firms that prosecuted the best information technology patents with an average IPQ of 122.2.
